Hulahoop

Designer: Alessandro Busana

Hulahoop is a family of tables, the name of which is inspired by the popular game, which involves making a large circle rotate around the body. The circle is the key figure of the base, made up of adjacent hollow rings that develop in the space and visually overlap, offering an always changing image, depending on the angle of observation. The result is a playful and dynamic object, which is balanced by the minimal design of the top.

Hulahoop offers multiple combinations of materials and dimensions. The top - which is free of sharp edges, simple and clean-cut - is available in various types of marble, wood, ceramic and glass. The decorative base is made of metal painted in a host of different colours or with burnished finish.
